

The Guthrie Daily Leader.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF OKLAHOMA DEMOCRACY—OFFICIAL STATE PAPER—OFFICE OF PUBLICATION, HARRISON AVENUE.

VOLUME 12

GUTHRIE, OKLAHOMA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22, 1899.

NUMBER 283.

HOUSE

Members to be the Guests of Citizens of Weatherford Next Sunday.

The morning session was called to order by speaker, to read the journal of the previous day. A petition from the citizens of Kingfisher county for the repeal of all quarantine laws prohibiting the introduction into this territory of cattle from the Indian territory, believing as we do that such laws are detrimental to our best interests.

Message from the house: Bill 92 has passed the council and transmitted for your consideration.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.
House bill 178, an act to provide for the drainage of swamp, bottom or low lands and to repeal chapter 17 of the statutes of 1893, by Wood. Agricultural committee.

House bill 179, an act authorizing cities of the status of the first class to extend or build laterals to sewers and to levy special assessments to pay for same, by Jones. Municipal corporation committee.

Council bill 27, an act to amend article 2, chapter 9 of the session laws of 1897, entitled "Guaranty Companies," by adding thereto section 10. By Houston. Private corporation committee.

Council bill 75, an act for the protection of the several counties and regulating the business of abstracting in relation thereto, by Kearney. County and township organization committee.

Council bill 80, an act prohibiting the introduction of Johnson grass into this territory, by fixing the penalty herefor, by Magnus. Agriculture committee.

NEW BILLS.
House bill 180, an act authorizing and empowering sub districts to create a building fund, by K. C. House bill 181, an act relating to revenue, by Morton.

House bill 182, an act relating to fire, life, accident and guaranty companies and amending sections 27 and 30, of article 1, chapter 41, statutes of 1893, and sections 25 of articles of statutes of 1893, and other purposes, by Morton.

The house resolved itself into committee of the whole, with Clarke in the chair.

House bill 101, by Duffy, an act to regulate the rate of interest in the territory of Oklahoma, and provide penalties for the violation of the same and repeal all laws in conflict herewith. Referred back that it do not pass.

House bill 122, by Sherer, an act amendatory of chapter 17, statutes of 1893, being an act entitled "Liquor," and amendatory of chapter 22, section laws of 1897, entitled "Liquor," by Joynt. Moved that the bill be reported back that it be printed, which prevailed. The bill calls for high license.

House bill 95, by Wood, an act to amend section 672 of the code of civil procedure, and repealing section 674 of said code, relating to divorces. The bill was laid over.

House bill 84, by Jones, to amend sections 50 and 47, session laws of 1897. It was ordered printed. The bill allows the governor to appoint militia officers.

House bill 53, an act providing for the assessment of banks, by Hatley. Moved that the bill be reported back that it do not pass. Referred back that it do not pass.

House bill 133, an act to regulate the practice of barbering, creating an inspection committee, and prescribing penalties for violation of the act, by Jones. Moved that the bill be reported back that it do not pass. Referred back that it do not pass.

House bill 18, an act amendatory of section 17, article 18, of the constitution of 1890, entitled "Procedure Criminal," by Ballard. Referred back to the author.

House bill 136, an act authorizing the town of Jefferson, Grant county, Oklahoma territory, to issue bonds for public buildings, by Sherer. Referred back to author.

Substitute for house bill 6, "An act to protect lands planted into rice, cotton and additions to townships from nuisances," by Jones. Doyle moved that the house do not concur in the amendments. The motion prevailed.

House bill 125, an act appropriating $1200 to indemnify J. T. M. for cattle killed and damaged by dipping them under the orders of the quarantine board of Oklahoma territory, by W. E. Referred back that it do not pass.

Walls made a strong fight for favorable recommendation. The committee rose and reported. Representative Ballard moved an invitation on behalf of the citizens of Weatherford to be their guests next Sunday. The invitation was accepted. Adjourned to 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
The house resolved into committee of the whole with Thomas in the chair.

House bill 165, an act providing for the organization of public warehouses and to regulate the warehousemen and inspection of grain in public warehouses and otherwise in the territory of Oklahoma, and providing for the appointment of a grain inspector, by Mr. Speaker. This bill contains fifty-three sections. It provides for the regulation of the warehousemen and inspection of grain in public warehouses and otherwise in the territory of Oklahoma, and providing for the appointment of a grain inspector, by Mr. Speaker.

After McKinley Roosevelt, one of the strongest men in the United States in every way, but I am for McKinley for a second term. I saw him in Washington the other day and I said to him: "Mr. President, you are my choice and you can go broke on me any time."

Bishop John H. Vincent will lecture at the Opera house Friday evening February 24.

Birthdays: Mrs. J. C. Bowl of soup is the city only 10 cents.

WOLCOTT

Entertains the Senate by Reading Washington's Farewell Address.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Washington, Feb. 22.—The senate today accepted an invitation to attend services at St. Matthew's church to honor the memory of the late President Fabre of France.

Senator E. O. Wolcott then read Washington's farewell address. Only 32 senators were present.

MR. FLYNN IS THE KING OF OKLAHOMA.

BUFFALO BOY WHO HAS BEEN SAWING WOOD.

He Has Had His Rumps Frequently, But There's No Hacking Story Trail—Along Behind—Success His Motto.

From the Buffalo, N. Y., News.
Hon. Dennis T. Flynn, the King of Oklahoma, one of the wealthiest men in the territory and by far the most popular, is in Buffalo celebrating the 27th anniversary of his birth by shaking hands with men who treated him kindly when he was a boy and sold the Buffalo Sunday News and the Evening News. He came to the city yesterday and will return home tonight if he can find a little boyhood friend and talk to them for a minute or two.

In a month's travel you would not find a better type of the American than this man, who was once in Father Hines' orphan asylum at West Seneca, sold papers for a living, added to the little sums until he had amassed a fortune of a million and a half, lost all of it in less than a week, and then began the struggle for another fortune of the same size—and it is in sight now. He is as breezy as a Kansas cyclone as sharp as a Texas north, and as warm as the southern sun.

Used to Hard Knocks.
"I'm not ashamed of my beginning," said Mr. Flynn to a News representative at the luncheon this morning. "I was a hard knock by the dozen and I just get a few, but I always kept my feet long enough to win out."

"When I was a boy I was in Jack White's ward. I didn't have rich parents, and it was hard for the beggar. I was in Father Hines' asylum for awhile and when I left I went to work in the Erie freight office. I saved $20 a month out of my salary of $35, and in less than a year I turned my face to the west. I was a printer by trade, a newsboy from practical experience and an editor in my own mind. I went to Riverside, Ia. just to please my mother, who had always wanted me to visit my grand parents, and while there bought the Riverside News. I ran that a year and sold it for $1500—in note—a profit of $1200. I went to Kansas with the little money I had, and I set on a claim and held it for six months in order to gain the title. I advertised on credit my intention of closing the deal with the government, expecting to pay the bill and pay the government fee of $50 with the money I was to receive from a yoke of oxen. I was to get $125 for them. The night before I was ready to sell them they died."

"I went to work for Major Drum, the biggest cattle raiser in the United States, for $25 a month—board and room. I was to receive from Texas to Kansas with cattle. At the end of the six months I paid the government fee, sold the land for $1600 and started on the look for more money."

Snow Coat Him a Million.
"I ran into a boom town, bought real estate, ran a newspaper, and things came my way with speed. I got into cattle, too, and in 1885 I was worth a million and a half, most of it in cattle. A six foot snow storm wiped out my fortune."

"I made up my mind that there would be money in Oklahoma, and I went to a scheme to start a town there and be the postmaster of it. I got into a partnership with two boys, 5,000 men beat me into the town and I didn't make a cent. That was the first time anybody got the best of me, and they did it in good shape."

"But I slept with both eyes open in Guthrie, Kan. for congress twice, was elected, was beaten once, and all the time was investing the money I saved. Here in Buffalo I had studied law and when I found time in the West I studied. I was admitted and have practiced a great deal, but the last two years I have been too busy making money to clobber in law. It's an honest fact. Since McKinley's election people in this country who have been awake have been too busy making money they have had no time for anything else. McKinley's a wonder and he'll certainly be the next president."

After McKinley Roosevelt, one of the strongest men in the United States in every way, but I am for McKinley for a second term. I saw him in Washington the other day and I said to him: "Mr. President, you are my choice and you can go broke on me any time."

Bishop John H. Vincent will lecture at the Opera house Friday evening February 24.

Birthdays: Mrs. J. C. Bowl of soup is the city only 10 cents.

BATTLE

This Morning Results in the Loss of Nine Nebraskans.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The Nebraskans this morning drove a force of 3,000 Filipinos three miles to Pasing, killing many of them. Twenty-one of the dead were found on the road. Of the Americans nine were killed and three wounded.

VATICAN

And Italy Are Giving the Chair Trouble Over His Peace Conference.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Rome, February 22.—Italy and the Vatican form the chief obstacles to the peace conference. The pope's chief intention was to visit Rome to the conference, but the Italian government is protesting.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Norfolk, Feb. 22.—When the military cruiser Yamate sails from Norfolk with Governor Lary, of Guam, she will also carry 220 men for Dewey's fleet.

A mission was given at the reception yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bishop read a paper on missions in Alaska.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

DISGUISED

As Women Insurgents Enter and Set Fire to a Town.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

LEADERS

Compel Natives to Bear Arms by Threatening Them With Death.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing that the flames being raised by the district occupied by rebel sympathizers. Eighty houses were destroyed.

Scrapps-McRae League.
Manila, Feb. 22.—The attempt to burn Pao Monday night was a peculiar affair. Native men disguised as women were the incendiaries. When they entered the building they told the inmates what they intended to do and started the blaze, and departed without molestation, fearing